SCAVENGER HUNT

Take a picture of the following

---

Bear Hunt statue

Made by our alumnus Douglas Tilden in 1892. His legendary work can be found throughout San Francisco and Berkeley.

“Learn, Experience, Thrive” bench

The bench at the front of the school illustrates the experience of students from the time they enter the school, when they are in a state of darkness; through their journey at the school where they learn, experience and thrive; until they graduate and have become enlightened. The eye represents the vortex of visual information that Deaf people take in.

“Learn Experience Thrive” logo

The logo, designed by one of our graduates, illustrates our school theme of “Learn, Experience, Thrive.” Each of those three hand-shapes combine together to form the shape of an eagle, which is our school mascot.

Klopping Theatre doors

The doors were brought from CSD’s old campus in Berkeley. The theater was named after Dr. Hank Klopping, who was the CODA superintendent of CSD for 36 years.

The new Deafhood Garden mosaic bench

All of the animals on the bench are Deaf. They represent the beauty of nature in its organic form. The lotus flowers are the Buddhist symbol of purity, and the butterfly represents graceful sign language.

Photographs depicting previous locations of the CSD campus

The school was first established in 1860 in San Francisco. It then moved to Berkeley. And finally, it moved to its current location in Fremont. (Hint: These photographs are part of the CSD museum.)

Three works De’VIA art by our students

De’VIA art expresses Deaf perspectives, experience and insights. Every year, we display students’ De’VIA artwork in the library. Art teacher David Call is a well-known De’VIA artist. His Eye Hand Studio website is at <http://davcall.wix.com/eye-hand-studio>

---

Career mural illustrating CSD’s career/technology education program

Students at CSD have the opportunity to study a variety of career options—from robotics, to culinary arts, to green construction, to health science, to graphic design, to videography and photography.

Picture of your favorite athletics team from throughout CSD history

Our library cherishes its Deaf history, with photographs of CSD athletics teams from the past to the present.

---

Eagle on top of gym

The eagle is our school mascot.

---

Your favorite booth

At the Deaf services faire in the gym.
