About this production

In our production, the lead character, Quasimodo, will be played by a Deaf actor. This casting choice is true to the Victor Hugo novel and a unique opportunity to integrate hearing and Deaf culture in the arts.

Our Quasimodo, played by Christopher DeSouza, will be performing his part in American Sign Language, while simultaneously, a second actor will be his speaking and singing voice.

Some of our shows will have ASL interpreters of all the spoken dialogue in the shows for Deaf audience members.
